Welcome to our Fall Catalog!

Dear Learners and Community Members,

There is something special about fall. The changing colors, crisp mornings, and familiar comforts remind us that new beginnings often follow a season of change. It is a time for growth, reflection, and fresh starts.

That spirit is exactly where Continuing Education and Workforce Training stands today. This fall, we are elevating what we offer — new programs, stronger partnerships, and more ways for our learning community to grow. As you browse the catalog, I hope you will find an exciting opportunity to earn an industry credential, build new professional skills, explore a creative passion, or simply learn something new.

And this is only the beginning. Behind the scenes, our team is developing fresh initiatives and collaborations that will continue to shape the future of continuing education and workforce training at Idaho State University. We look forward to sharing what's next.

So as you enjoy the season — cozy sweaters, pumpkin patches, football weekends, or a warm cup of apple cider — take a few moments to explore this catalog. I hope you will discover a class that sparks your curiosity, opens a new door, or moves you closer to your next goal.

Thank you for letting us be part of your learning journey. We look forward to welcoming you this fall.

-RaeLyn Price, Associate Officer for Workforce Training| Albion Institute

Effective Delegation for Healthcare #1934

For delegation to be appropriate, it is necessary to understand the Board of Nursing's standards, use effective communication skills, and provide instruction that leads to knowledge and competence. In 2014, limits on the role of unlicensed assistive personnel (UAP), such as the CNA, were removed from the rules of the Idaho Board of Nursing, allowing nurses more freedom in delegating tasks to UAPs. This online series clarifies how this change will promote high-quality, patient-focused, and cost-effective care in the community environment.

The Inside Track to Journeyman

An apprenticeship education is a combination of on-the-job training and related classroom instruction providing the practical and theoretical aspects of a highly skilled occupation. These four-year programs build concept upon concept, year after year, preparing the student for the journeyman exam required by the State of Idaho. It's an efficient and practical way to build the foundation for an in-demand and satisfying career.

Flexible Blended Learning Programs

The electrical, plumbing, and HVAC apprenticeship programs participate in the new blended curriculum at ISU Continuing Education Workforce Training (CEWT).

Blended classes are a combination of traditional instructor-led classes and online self-directed coursework. Blended classes give continuous access to assignments, allowing for more mobility and flexibility during the on-the-job training portion of the apprenticeship. For example, in addition to the blended classwork, the lectures are also streamed live so that students who cannot make it to classroom sessions can still participate in the live lecture. All coursework for the blended classes will be offered online on the Moodle platform, making it easy for students to track their progress.

College credits are available when all program criteria are met. Contact us to learn more!

Idaho State University's Apprenticeship Program is supported by the United States Department of Labor. A total of $51,308, or 28.5 percent, of the program is financed with federal funds, and $104,915, or 71.5 percent, is funded by other sources.

Earn as You Learn.

Apprenticeship Programs in Electrical, Plumbing and HVAC

Apprentices in our four-year programs learn to build real-world, career-defining skills through on the job training— while earning wages, college credits, and the know-how to become licensed a journeyman.

Don't just dream about your future... Make it!
