Date: Apr 16, Tues. Time: 10 am – 12 pm Location: CHE 222

Content: This class will teach you the basics of using your Google Calendar along with Gretchen's favorite tips and tricks. You will learn how to create a meeting where you can invite others, setup a (free 1-hour) video meeting, add a location (that connects to Google Maps), and add meeting reminders. Calendars aren't just for work! Use it to block off time on your calendar for events or travel. Setup weekly repeating "meetings" to remind you to take out the trash or recycling, or which Thursday gives you a senior discount at Albertsons! You can schedule doctor's appointments and FFL classes. You can even use meetings to make notes of what you did throughout the day. The best part is you can access your calendar from home computer or your phone wherever you go. You will need a Gmail account with Google Calendar installed on your phone for this class.

4702 Xeriscaping: Beauty of Sustainability

Instructor: Claudia Pine

Fee: 0

Date: May 29, Wed.

Time: 2 pm – 4 pm

Location: CHE 213

Content: Xeriscape is landscaping, or gardening, that reduces the need for irrigation. The word comes from the Greek root xeros, meaning “dry.” The word “zero” is not part of xeriscaping! Xeriscaping is not no-water, but low-water. The xeriscape concept was developed in Denver, Colorado in the 1980s to help describe a more water-conserving, locally adapted approach to landscape. Xeriscaping makes our home and commercial landscapes more suited to the place we live in through thoughtful application of the principles of xeriscaping.

In the optional field trip, we will discuss ways to begin xeriscaping through a look at the Happyville Farms Xeriscape demonstration garden. This tour is limited to 15 people.

Credentials: Claudia Pine has worked in sustainable and organic agriculture for nearly 20 years. She co-founded the University of Idaho's campus organic farm and taught gardening classes for FFL and many other community groups.

Facilitator: Gretchen O'Bleness Email: Gretchen.obleness@gmail.com Phone: 208-681-3451
